

Career paths:

There is no doubt that religion and spirituality play a huge part in understanding the world and one another. RE GCSE allows for an exploration of beliefs and values along with a unique opportunity to deepen the skills of reflective and critical thinking. Those who study RE speak positively of the contribution it makes to their personal understanding and awareness of others. We take the time to explore the ultimate questions in life that no other subject addresses and to reflect on why religion matters in the lives of human beings.

What can I do after I have completed this course?

Lots of courses work well and complement Religious studies after GCSE. These include Philosophy and Ethics, Criminology, Sociology, Psychology, Sciences, Law, History, English, Art and Politics.

Link: Jobs that use Religious Studies - BBC Bitesize

Subject: GCSE Religious Studies

Catholic Christianity, Judaism, Philosophy and Relationships and Family Life in 21st Century

Careers in Religious Education

- Politics
- Aid worker
- Barrister/Solicitor
- Bid writer
- Civil Service administrative officer
- Civil Service executive officer
- Editorial assistant
- Further education teacher
- Higher education lecturer
- Human resources officer
- Legal executive/Paralegal
- The Church – Priesthood
- Religious leader
- Primary / Secondary school teacher
- Local government officer
- Marketing executive
- Psychotherapist
- Public relations officer
- Recruitment consultant